"Laura this course is absolute gold dust! I learnt so much great new stuff, there seems very little point in me pointing out the specifics because I'd just end up writing a list of everything you've covered."

—Angus Knights, Speechmatics

HEADING: Fairplex Narrow Tk BODY: Maven Pro

Fairplex Narrow and Maven Pro is what I'm using for Design Academy. Fairplex Narrow is a serif that isn't too studious and Maven Pro has quite a techy look to it which works for my target audience (you!)

HEADING: Titillium Web

BODY: Titillium Web

Titillium Web is from Google Web Fonts and has an impressive array of weights and styles. It's interesting enough for headings and clear enough for body copy. This would be a really nice choice for a software product or web app.

HEADING: Museo Slab Tk BODY: Museo Sans Tk

The whole Museo family is a really versatile one to have in your toolbelt. Museo Sans is a very widely regarded typeface in the design industry because of its readability and you can pair it with any other Museo typeface and it'll match.

HEADING: Playfair Display

BODY: Montserrat

Playfair Display is the go-to typeface for anything fashion related. It pairs really well with Montserrat. However Montserrat is a versatile enough typeface to be used in both headings and body copy on its own.

HEADING: Brandon Grotesque

BODY: PT Serif

Brandon Grotesque is a friendly, fun, quirky typeface. Great for headings but a little much for body copy. You can pair with something like PT Serif to balance off some of the quirkiness or use a sans-serif like Source Sans Pro.

HEADING: Proxima Nova

BODY: Proxima Nova

Proxima Nova is a very popular typeface. It's modern and ever so slightly hipster. works great for both headings and body copy and works in almost any industry as it's not too fussy and makes a bold statement.
